8th January 1881 Wellington Education Board An application was made for a school in Mungaroo Valley, a settler offering to lend a cottage for the purpose. There were 28 children there. It was resolved, as many of the children were aged only four and five, the matter should be deferred.

2nd April 1881 A letter was read from the committee of the Upper Hutt School District, calling attention to the necessity for schools at Upper Whiteman's Valley and Mungaroo. It was stated the settlers offered to find a proportion of the necessary timber.

27th April 1881 Wellington Education Board Appointments Mungaroo Valley— Mr. Foden.

27th October 1881 Wellington Education Board Wallaceville School £150 recommended [There is some confusion with the name Mungaroo being used by the Wellington Education Board as a loose term for the various small schools in the Upper Hutt area The Upper Hutt School Committee was the committee for a number of these early schools]

26th January 1882 UPPER HUTT SCHOOLS. The following householders were elected a Committee for the Upper Hutt School on Tuesday night :—Messrs James Bayliss, Robert Hooper, Charles Swainson, Thomas Cotter, William G. Haybittle, John Downing, and William Tait. Of those elected, three represent the Upper Hutt proper, two Upper Mungaroo, one Lower Mungaroo, and one Wallaceville.

30th January 1884 Wellington Education Board Mr Heenan appointed to Wallaceville

14th April 1884 In a long letter Mr Heenan wrote a letter to the editor of the New Zealand times. George Heenan was a leading cricketer playing for Wellington; Sjn,—Kindly allow me a few lines to refute the charge of having backed out of the team going to Canterbury made in your Saturday's issue, for as I am the only member left behind, and there can be no doubt as to whom the words refer. Living as I do in an out-of-the-way place, I had no opportunity of learning what arrangements were being made ; and although the Secretary to the Association promised to send me, information, I received .none. The result was, that when I arrived in Wellington by train on Thursday evening, ready to start for Canterbury, I was met by the information that the team had already sailed. The Secretary to the Association had left word that I was to follow next day ; this I declined to do, as I should probably have arrived in Christchurch on the day of the match, and, being a wretched sailor, should have been totally unfit to play.—I am, &c., ' "G C. Heenan Wellington, April 12.

[Mr Heenan has evidently been the victim of circumstances, and assuming what he says to be correct, our correspondent has displayed an unpardonable amount of laxity; for, as a cricketer, surely he should have made inquiries, and obtained information for himself. Further, inasmuch as Mr Heenan had ample opportunity of arriving in Christchurch before dawn of the day of the match, we hold to the opinion expressed on Saturday, for' even taking Mr Heenan's statement as correct and we are credibly informed very differently—he has displayed an unsportsmanlike, as well as ungentlemanly spirit—firstly, in not troubling to familiarise himself with the movements of the team ; and secondly, in refusing to proceed to Christchurch, although he must have known that ho would be required to leave for that city on Thursday evening last. — Ed. N.Z. Times.]

20th November 1900 I hear that Miss A. D. Bright, who only just come up to London. Miss Bright intends, I understand, to take up literary work, and has brought with her some good introductions. She is to be a contributor to the new Imperial and Colonial Magazine, which is to be launched toward the end of this month, and which, it is expected, will be a great success in every respect. Miss Jessie Weston, also of Auckland, is to be a contributor to the first number of the same magazine, as also is Mr. W. P. Reeves.

14th November 1901 Miss A. D. Bright, formerly of Auckland, has published a charming little book, "Three Christmas Gifts," just published by Messrs. Simpkin, Marshall and Co., London. It is a collection of very pretty fairy tales whose scenes are laid in New Zealand. They are delightfully written, the local colour being carefully cherished, and are beautifully illustrated by Mr. Frank Wright, ,who also is a New Zealander

19th June 1909 Miss Aimee Bright's new volume of Fairy Tales, to be issued immediately by Messrs Duckworth, of London, is illustrated by Harry Rountree, and promises to enhance the reputation of writer and artist, who both hail from Auckland.

16th July 1910 Miss A. D. Bright, of the Wallacetown School staff, has been appointed sole teacher at the Miki Miki school, and she will take up her new duties after the September term holidays.

30th October 1912 In receiving yesterday the resignations of Miss A, D. Bright, of Mikimiki, and Miss N. Johnston, of Korokoro, the Wellington Education Board placed onrecord its high appreciation of their long and faithful service in the Wellington district. Both teachers are retiring on superannuation.

24th October 1919 Miss A. D. Bright, formerly of Masterton, the well-known writer of fairy stories and articles dealing with agriculture, will leave Wellington by the Corinthic to-day for England. Miss Bright is making arrangements to publish further volumes of fairy tales, and in addition she will, be writing articles for some of the. New Zealand newspapers.

20th March 1919 deputation from settlers at Wallaceville waited on the Education Board yesterday and asked that the school should be left where it is at present. The school had been there about forty years, and it was also considered that the road to the site selected for the new school was a dangerous one. The Chairman said the idea at the back of selecting the new site at Mungaroa was to centralise, but the deputation urged that centralisation would be too big a price to pay for the change, and that the present site filled all the requirements and served the needs of the greater portion of the community. There were, it was added; about five acres of land attached to the school, which had a really fine educational record. The Chairman informed the deputation that the question would be considered by the board with the greatest care, and the Wallaceville Committee would be informed of the decision in due course.

18th September 1919 Answering a question by Mr. T. M. Wilford regarding Wallaceville School, the Prime Minister said yesterday that, the provision of teachers for schools was the duty and the responsibility of the Education Board of the district, and the Minister had no right to interfere. In the case of the Wallaceville School, which the Department was informed was closed for a fortnight after the usual spring vacation, a teacher had now been provided and commenced duties on 8th September.
